

DECEMBER 2009

Elmbridge

Lifestyle Magazine

U P S T R E A M

Floral Fin

Ready for show. The Kingston and Elmbridge Lifestyle Magazines' Art Editor, Carol Cordrey, isn't one for showing off – but she's found an artist who is. East Molesey based Peter Clark has a new exhibition of that very name. He has also released a book of his collage images, entitled Paperwork. It includes an interview with Peter and comments by some of his customers and critics, including Carol.

■ 'Showing Off' is at the Rebecca Hossack Art Gallery, London, Dec 3-24. For details call (020) 7255 2828. Paperwork (£24.95) is available in hardback from the gallery.

Cover Girl

WIN a trip on ice

Henry VIII was a man of many sports. Had he been around for the last of the Henry 500 celebrations at Hampton Court Palace this Christmas, he would surely have found the ice-skating much to his taste.

This month sees the return of the highly popular temporary outdoor rink, set against the beautiful backdrop of the palace. And, with no rink at Kew Gardens this year, this is the place for Surrey skaters in 2009.

So why not take to the ice for some daring festive fun, or enjoy the spectacle with a hot chocolate and mince pie in the rinkside café?

If you're no Torvill or Dean (yet), you can always book an ice guide to help you navigate your way around the rink. This costs £30 a session, but needs to be booked in advance.

So, if that sounds like your idea of fun, have a go at our exclusive competition to win a £32 family ticket for four people – two adults and two children, or one adult and three children – to experience the only local ice rink this Christmas.

■ Hampton Court Palace Ice Rink, daily from Nov 28 – Jan 10. Booking advised.

Visit: www.hamptoncourcicerink.com

Reader offer: The Kingston and Elmbridge Lifestyle Magazines have a family ticket to give away (details on p. 10).